ALLIS-CHALMERS FORK TRUCKS

Dumping material by the ton—one of many daily operations.

Tracks are crossed 30-40 times daily under load without truck damage.

Inventory simplified, storage increased with ton-at-a-time tiering.

Cut Handling Time 30% at Chicago Malleable Castings Co.

In two years, Chicago Malleable Castings Co., a leading mid-western foundry, has been able to reduce handling time 30% on all materials handled with an Allis-Chalmers FT60-24 Fork Lift Truck.

In specific instances, such as the boxcar unloading of refractory brick, the truck has reduced by 90% the handling time formerly required by conveyor system.

Equipped with a rotating device, the truck is also used for handling foundry sand and other bulk materials, and also for loading, transporting, and unloading such products as bonding clay, machinery, and rough castings. All these operations have been accomplished more efficiently and in less time than was possible with equipment formerly used.

So impressive has been this performance record, that Chicago Malleable recently purchased another Allis-Chalmers truck for use in other areas of their modern plant. Used primarily for handling finished castings, including trailer-truck and boxcar loading, this truck handles 140 tons of materials in an average eight-hour day.

But utility is only part of the story. Maneuverability, ease of handling, low maintenance, and dependable, long-lived operation — even under adverse foundry operating conditions — are all features combined in every Allis-Chalmers Fork Lift Truck. It's the winning combination for progressive foundries throughout the country.

ALLIS CHALMERS, BUDA DIVISION, MILWAUKEE I, WISCONSIN

Write today for your free copy of our 36-page, fact-filled booklet which explains in detail the many exclusive features that make Allis-Chalmers Fork Lift Trucks the choice of industry everywhere.

This A.W.A. Seal identifies a responsible warehouse

--LOOK FOR IT!

When choosing a warehouse make sure of its moral responsibility. This assures that your goods will be handled and stored by experts... men who realize their legal obligations as custodians of another man's property. Your interests as a warehouse customer are exactly the same as those of the A.W.A. The integrity of the owners, the financial stability of the company, a high standard of competence—these are the qualifications for membership. Look for the A.W.A. seal in this directory, and write for a complete Membership Roster... you will know you are dealing with competent, reliable warehousemen. Address the A

of Profit...

Service and Economy are the basis of Profits!...

AMPLE STOCK ON HAND After your customer has signed on the "dotted line"—the next important consideration is to have your stock at nearby points. These stocks await IMMEDIATE shipment so that your customer gets his merchandise promptly and you receive your money quickly. The facilities of Distribution Service Warehouses will perform this important part of your service.

QUICKEST POSSIBLE SERVICE Here is where SERVICE really counts. Your trade demands promptness

- . to enable them to take advantage of seasonal conditions;
- to effect quick "turn-over" for regular trade;
 for strategic retail sales planning events;
- to fill in depleted items.

OVERHEAD COSTS

Knowledge of definite overhead cost per sales unit is necessary to accurately figure profits. With a fixed cost for such items as rent, light, heat, telephone, supervision, compensation insurance and the numerous other expenses necessary in a branch warehouse plan, applying against a fluctuating volume of sales, it is practically impossible to figure costs. Distribution Service Warehouses absorb these fixed expenses, quoting you definite costs per sales unit.

our warehouse service is ... Nation-Wide!

- . It is INDIVIDUALIZED to fit your exact requirements.
- It costs you LESS and gives you MORE than any other plan of distribution.
- It is essential for obtaining NEW business and a necessity for holding old accounts.

WITHOUT OBLIGATION, we will prepare a proposition covering warehouse costs for your individual needs based on a nationwide distribution or by state or locality, whereby you will know the definite cost per sales unit, With this plan you pay only for overhead based on actual sales volume. WRITE OR PHONE US TODAY, stating your requirements in the various localities in which you operate, requesting any other distribution facts you desire. We will also gladly furnish any other useful data needed regarding transportation facilities, and other items so necessary to an economical and efficient sales program.

Speed Doesn't Occur Here!

The speed of a truck doesn't determine fast transportation, or prompt scheduling. Most competent carriers travel the highways at the safest maximum speed allowed. Good scheduling . . . Central's Controlled Scheduling . . . makes time where time counts most.

When you ship via Central, the first step . . . always ... is time-saving pick-ups ... freight cleared from terminals daily . . . immediate load consolidation at terminal points . . . no delay in delivery.

Remember, Central's Controlled Scheduling delivers your freight where you need it . . . when you want it . . . consistent with your requirements.

Mayflower today as then ... still THE BEST

Like the Mayflower of old, the modern Mayflower not only transports a family's precious possessions, but, through the mere act of moving them from old, familiar surroundings into a new and strange location, carries with it also something of their hopes and aspirations for the future. In a situation like this, you will naturally want, for the people you transfer, a mover that is more than just a mover. You will want a company that understands the anxieties of change, and is prepared to alleviate them so far as possible.

That's why Mayflower Service has been designed to relieve your families of work and concern, to leave them happily settled in their new homes. That we succeed in this aim, most of the time, is attested by our customers when they report to us their opinion of our service.

Not the least of the reasons for this is our nation-wide organization of exclusive warehouse agents in over 570 cities throughout the United States and Canada. They have been carefully selected for their ability and responsible standing in their communities. They are ready to arrange Mayflower Long-Distance Moving Service for your personnel . . . to take the whole job off of your hands and theirs.

One Way to Boost Your Income

There's an article in this issue that should be of interest to every taxpayer-and who isn't? We call special attention to it because its title, "Defense Department Reduces Warehousing," is not general enough to attract every reader.

To a public warehouseman, that title will be provocative because, individually and through his associations, he has been telling the government to do just that-reduce warehousing. Of course, we suspect he had a business motive but, nevertheless, we're happy and anxious to support him because the entire nation stands to

Aside from the fact that he can do a better job for the government, there's the matter of economy. Over the years, the public warehouseman has justified his services just on the basic economics that the storer only pays for the space used. The government or the business man constantly carries the full cost of the total space, used or unused, of the private warehouse.

If we need more proof, we have it on Page 46. The author states clearly, and he is in good position to know, that current Department of Defense reforms in warehousing policies and procedures will save the Army alone about $30 million annually in operating expenses and release about 39 million sq ft of storage space.

Best of all, in the process of getting out of the warehouse business, the Department has developed new and more efficient techniques in handling stock levels, cross servicing and better management methods; bringing closer the day of complete integration.

While we have Mr. Hoover's committees to thank for these gains, much credit must be given to Mr. Albert B. Drake, commercial warehouseman of fine repute, for blueprinting the present program. Also, we should not overlook the fact that an able government career man carried the ball to this point.

Reduction in warehousing was included in the 300 separate recommendations made by the Hoover committees. If the gains promised by the other recommendations are comparable to those indicated for warehousing then, starting in 1957, we should see some appreciable reduction in government operations costs and in our taxes.

The French have Poujade pushing for tax reductions, we have Mr. Hoover (although that's where the comparison ends). Let's pressure the politicians for action. This is the year for it. Getting the government out of business will help your business, and it will cut your taxes. That's one way to boost your income.

Yakkety Yak

Last fall, the Department of Defense issued two orders that (a) will cut its food bill $120 million yearly, and (b) turned over military mail to private airlines that will gross $18 million in revenue and reduce airline subsidy.

PRO: About $7 billion more could be cut from the annual federal budget-without weakening the defense program or cutting necessary government services.

. . . About 45 per cent of the recommendations can be accomplished by administrative action.

. . . As for the other 55 per cent, the politicians, possibly with eyes on elections, scrambled to endorse about 185 bills based on the recommendations. Most have dual, some triple, sponsors.

CON: Rep. Whitten (Dem., Miss.), chairman, House Appropriations agriculture subcommittee, says investigation of Commodity Credit Corp. shows that it unduly favors public warehousemen because,

. . . It moved government-owned commodities long distances to private storage instead of using nearby government-owned storage,

. . . It paid excessive handling rates on grain shipped by truck to terminal warehouses.

... It paid more for many operations by using forwarding agents and other private help instead of government personnel.

OUTLOOK: Mr. Hoover, wise in ways of politics, prophesies that most recommendations will die or he emasculated, UPKEEP: At the Canners Convention Mr. Ezra Benson told us price supports are costly but the hill for storage and maintenance of surpluses runs a million dollars a day.

Tips on Truck Leasing

To The Editor:

We were pleased to read the article, "Tips on Truck Leasing," in your December issue (p. 27). This will help to further explain how this non-carrier service can be utilized advantageously by private truck users.

However, we regret that a typographical error was made in showing $2.5 million as the annual volume of full-service truck leasing. The correct figure is $250,000,000—a calculation arrived at by multiplying the 100,000 trucks provided under lease by an average annual gross of $2,500 a truck.

Ray H. Brundige Vice President

Columbia Terminals Co. St. Louis, Mo.

We stand corrected, and offer sincere apologies for this error of mathematics.—The Editor.

Going Out of Business

To The Editor:

One of our clients, a warehouseman, has a problem. If the warehouse is sold, and the business liquidated, and if the warehouseman notifies all of his customers to remove their property, and if he gets no reply from some of the customers, does he have to give further notice and in due course sell the property? In other words, how can the warehouseman protect himself in the event that the property is sold and he hears nothing from some of his customers?

T. C. Plowden-Wardlaw Attorney-at-Law Albany, N. Y.

There is a plurality of ways by which you can protect your client under the situation outlined. However, it is my opinion that your best and most practical course is filing legal procedure before a court and abiding by its decision as to what disposition should be made of the stored goods belonging to unlocated owners.

Of course, if storage charges are overdue, you can comply with the laws of your state, sell the goods, and retain any excess money due for benefit of the bailor.—Leo T. Parker, DA Legal Consultant.

DA Handling Primer

D. O. Haynes' continuing series of articles, called "DA Materials Handling Primer," is being reprinted in book form. The book, which will be titled, "Materials Handling Equipment," is scheduled for publication early this summer. It will include more than 400 pages and some 2,500 illustrations, and will sell for about $12.50.

Small Cars are Big Business

...at the Port of Long Beach

MG assembly line at Abingdon-on-Thames, England

Part of the record cargo of 680 Volkswagens is shown above being unloaded from the German motorship Simon von Utrecht. The cars were unloaded at the Port of Long Beach late last year and comprised the largest single consignment of automobiles ever shipped to a Southern California port. From assembly lines in England, France, Germany and Italy come sleek sportsters and economical family cars destined for the world's best automotive market — Southern California.

To reach this huge market the quickest and safest way, shippers make consistent use of the Port of Long Beach. Located in the middle of the huge Southern California area, the Port of Long Beach offers important advantages to importers of vehicles.

Wide apron wharves and careful handling make for easy unloading. Large paved outdoor storage areas adjacent to modern freeways and highways permit cars to be picked up and transported to Los Angeles or other points in the Southwest speedily and economically.

Nearly $10,000,000 worth of cars and trucks were imported through the Port of Long Beach last year, proof that the best way to reach the Southern California market is through America's Most Modern port, the Port of Long Beach.

B.F.Goodrich industrial tire quiz

Here the job is stacking materials for storage in a warehouse with a 2,000 to 3,000 pound lift truck.

What are the right tires to use on these jobs?

2 This wheelbarrow haufs sand, dirt, brick, stone and the like at a construc-

This unit moves materials in a factory.

Loads are not fragile and hauling conditions present no special problems.

The problem in this steel mill is hauling giant loads over floors covered with sharp, abrasive scrap.

This job involves work on oily packing house floors. You'd find the same conditions in a machine shop.

Up and down ramps, into and out of trucks—for jobs like this you need all the traction you can get.

Truck cranes and straddle trucks that work in the factory yard moving tons of materials need tires like these.

8 Wherever small, light loads must be moved short distances under favorable conditions, you'll find these tires

B.F.Goodrich

answers your industrial tire problems

All-Purpose Pneumatic

Here is the ideal tire for general hauling work where floors are smooth and aisles unobstructed. The All-Purpose boosts hauling speeds, steps up schedules, cuts time and labor costs. Maintenance to both floor and equipment is reduced. And the rugged B. F. Goodrich tread gives traction when you need it!

Pressed-On Deluxe Cushion Wide Lug

This B. F. Goodrich Pressed-On Deluxe Cushion tire with wide lugs and thick tread cushions like a pneumatic, is non-directional to grip the floor in forward or reverse. Like all solid tires made by B. F. Goodrich, this tire is also available in special oil-proof compound that defies tire-killing oil, gasoline, etc.

Wheelbarrow Express Pneumatic

This B. F. Goodrich tire rolls easier on dirt or uneven floors, absorbs shock and reduces operator fatigue. It cuts costs by cushioning the load and preventing fragile cargo breakage. There's a Wheelbarrow Express for light and medium service as well as heavy work. And B. F. Goodrich also provides wheelbarrow wheels and tire and wheel assemblies.

Pressed-On Deluxe Cushion Lug

Dock areas, factory yards and irregular floors can quickly destroy pneumatic tires. So to get maximum cushioning and traction without the danger of flat tires, use B. F. Goodrich Pressed-On Deluxe Cushion Lug tires. The tread is bonded to the steel base by a special process that assures positive adhesion and reduces maintenance and repair costs.

Pressed-On Smooth Tread

This versatile B. F. Goodrich industrial tire can be used on either traction or free-rolling wheels for general material handling work. Comes in 3 tread compounds: Universal for cutting and chipping problems, Low Power to reduce rolling resistance on electrically-operated equipment, and Old Proof.

Universal Pneumatic

If you use heavy equipment to move giant loads, the B. F. Goodrich Universal pneumatic tire is recommended, Wedge-shaped clears guard against skidding, pull in either direction. You get maximum load-carrying capacity and flotation. The Universal absorbs shocks, reducing operator fatigue and equipment maintenance.

Pressed-On Grooved Tread

This B. F. Goodrich tire is grooved in the larger sizes and comes in three tread compounds. For work in a steel mill, you'd want Universal compound to resist abrasive scrap, and you'd want the flexible grooved tread for easier steering. This tire carries extremely heavy loads in severe service.

Zero Pressure

The B. F. Goodrich Zero Pressure is the most economical and practical tire ever developed for light industrial hauling equipment. The tire needs no tube, can't go flat. It rolls easier, gives maximum carrying capacity, toughness and durability. B. F. Goodrich makes Zero Pressures for light, medium and heavy service.

Why Longspans Were Used in Building These Stores

These two stores—a supermarket in Philadelphia and a clothing store in a Buffalo, N. Y., shopping center—have roof structures containing Bethlehem Longspan Steel Joists.

Bethlehem Longspans were used for several good reasons. First, they gave maximum floor area below, with supporting columns reduced to the smallest number possible. This allowed freedom in the arrangement of counters and merchandise displays, while giving the stores maximum aisle space. Longspan joists saved construction time, too, for they reached the job completely fabricated, ready for immediate placing. And in masonry construction, they reduce the need for pilasters which often interfere with wall design. Installation of recessed lighting fixtures and of wiring and air-conditioning ductwork was simplified by using Longspans, for pipes and wires were run right through the open webs.

Bethlehem Longspans will also reduce future maintenance in these two buildings because they provide a nonwarping, non-sagging construction. And in combination with concrete floor slabs and plaster ceilings, they give a fire-resistance of up to four hours, depending upon the thickness of the slab and the type of plaster used.

TANKER PLANS ANNOUNCED—Offers are made by six U. S. firms to build more than 20 tankers for long-term charter to the Military Sea Transportation Service. MSTS would charter up to 15 new tankers for as long as 10 years. Building of two to six vessels each is contemplated by Oleum-Atlantic Corp.; New England Shipping & Tanker Corp.; Big Tankers Corp.; Northwestern Tanker Corp.; Phoenix Tankers, Inc.; and Sea Transport Corp.

RATE INCREASE HEARING—Heated arguments may take place at the ICC on Feb. 20, when the railroads are to defend their plea to publish a seven per cent general increase in freight rates. National Coal Assn. and a number of meatpackers have objected to the plan, and verified statements in opposition will be accepted by the ICC through Feb. 3. Unless the agency unexpectedly blocks the new rates earlier, they will become effective on Feb. 25.

NAMED TO AGENCY—President Eisenhower has acted to close the gaps in the ranks of ICC members. He has named Rupert L. Murphy, of Atlanta, and Robert W. Minor, a U. S. Justice Dept. lawyer, to complete the unexpired terms of Hugh W. Cross and J. Haden Alldredge, respectively. Mr. Murphy is to serve through the end of 1957 and Mr. Minor through 1958. Senate Commerce committee planned hearings on the nominations on Jan. 25.

FIX SIZE STANDARDS—Any trucking or warehousing firm is to be considered small, by the latest government definition, if its annual receipts are $2 million or less. Small Business Administration discloses this earnings standard and a number of others applying to various industry groups. The agency is to use the standards in deciding the eligibility of applicants for loans and related assistance.

SIGHT LOADING RISE—Rail shipments of 27 major commodities are to rise this quarter above the first quarter 1955 marks, regional shippers advisory boards predict. They look for a national increase of 8.3 per cent in freight carloadings, with ore and concentrates, coal and coke, and iron and steel making the most notable percentage advances. All regions except the northwest are to share in the gains.

AWAIT MORE PAY—Plumper pay envelopes will go to about 220,000 transportation industry employees during the corrent quarter under contracts worked out earlier. Another 130,000 will get wage increases later this year. Most of the recipients are in trucking and local transit work. Their pay is to be raised by 8¢ to 11¢ an hour.

EXPENSES MOVE UP—Mounting costs of keeping highway freight lines fully modern are convincing truckers that higher rates must be charged. Expense of adding new operating equipment, as seen by the ATA, is to total perhaps $3 billion this year. Investment in new terminal facilities also will be heavy. Freight handling at loading docks is to be improved by greater use of techniques of automation.

BUY MORE EQUIPMENT—Plant and equipment outlays by the railroads during 1956 are certain to total more than $1 billion. In the current quarter alone, they are estimated at $357 million, or almost twice the expenditures for the opening quarter of 1955. Rail carriers have expanded both equipment and road programs.

DELAYS FILING DATE—Postponed by the ICC until Feb. 3 was deadline for receiving comments on its proposed new rule for truck emergency brakes. A one-month postponement followed requests for more time from truckers' spokesmen and a brake equipment manufacturer. Proposed rule would require tractor-trailer combinations to have devices that would confine any brake failure to the wheels of one axle.

PREPARE LAW REVIEW—Fate of the "50-50" law requiring that 50 per cent of American goods bound for foreign nations be shipped in U. S. vessels may be up to this session of Congress. Complaints about it from farm groups produced a call for hearings before the House Merchant Marine committee. According to the complaints, the law hinders distribution of surplus farm products abroad and thus injures the American farmer.

CHARGES TO CHANGE—Adjustments in class rates on freight moving by rail in Mountain-Pacific territory are to be made by June 1, the ICC orders. Changes will be both up and down, but reductions will predominate. Class rates apply chiefly to manufactured goods and cover only a very small fraction of total rail freight business. However, the ICC order is to have the effect of reducing shipping fees by some $10 million a year.

ASKS RESEARCH HELP—Scientific attack on the difficulties of break-bulk dry cargo operations is needed, the U. S. Maritime Administration maintains. Otherwise, says the agency, coastwise and intercoastal shipping enterprises are in fairly healthy condition. Suggested is direct federal aid to research in methods of reducing cargo handling costs, as a means of solving dry cargo shipping problems.

WORLD-WIDE MOVING SERVICE BY LAND, SEA, AIR

FEBRUARY, 1956 Vol. 55, No. 2

VER two years ago, the CAB began an investigation to determine whether there was any further need for the continued licensing of domestic air freight forwarders as well as to settle other questions concerning indirect air carriers. The Board's order, recently released, renews operating authority for most domestic air freight forwarders for an indefinite period and grants them other privileges far beyond what they have enjoyed during the past few years when they have been considered to be on an "experimental" basis.

Scope of Operations

These are some of the most important things air freight forwarders now are permitted:

- They can be affiliated with motor carriers or surface forwarders.
- 2. Forwarders originally authorized, but not operating at the time the Board's order was issued, will be permitted to get back into the business provided they had requested renewal of their authority to do so.
- 3. Two railroad controlled forwarding organizations, originally not permitted to engage in air freight forwarding, now may do so. These are Universal Air Freight Corporation and National Air Freight Forwarding Corporation, authorized for an experimental five-year period. The Board now feels that the danger of domination of air freight forwarding by such rail controlled companies is no longer a factor.
- Cooperative shippers associations are granted indirect air carrier status for an indefinite period, and they may act as freight forwarders for their members.

Rate Agreements Permitted

5. Rate agreements between forwarders and the airlines are to be permitted; whereby the latter would carry the forwarders' traffic at rates below their tariff CAB Rate Ruling Considered Illegal

Two Board members see permission to negotiate preferential rates as unwise legal deviation with detrimental effect on industry and public rates for like freight transported for private shippers.

- No restrictions are placed on the chartering of aircraft by forwarders.
- 7. Forwarders may act as agents for a shipper or an airline in connection with particular shipments. The Board held that such a practice would "serve as stop-loss devices when adequate consolidations cannot be affected, thereby assisting in survival and growth of new or marginal forwarder enterprises..."
- 8. Joint loading is to be permitted by several forwarders "to attain larger consolidations and lower proportional rates than individual forwarders could secure alone," where such a practice does not affect the relation of basic shippers and forwarders as carriers nor create undue operating difficulties for the airlines.

Space Allocation Denied

The air freight forwarders had requested permission to make space allocation agreements with the airlines to plan for the efficient movement of traffic on definite flights. The right to do this was denied by the Board.

At the same time, the Board denied the application of Air Cargo, Inc., wholly owned and controlled by the airlines of the country, to engage in the business of air freight forwarding on the ground that it would lessen competition on the carriage of air freight among the airlines. The status of the Railway Express Agency as an indirect air carrier is left unchanged since there appears to be no substitute for the operations now performed by that organization.

The liberality of the Board's order surprised a good many in the industry both among freight forwarders and airlines. The most astonishment seems to be expressed over the decision to rely on the carrier status of air freight forwarders to permit them to enter into preferential rate agreements with the airlines.

Minority Hits Rate Ruling

Board members Chan Gurney and Harmar D. Denney entered a vigorous dissenting opinion to this portion of the order. The position taken by the majority permits an important departure from

Use of public storage, plus cross servicing and other new control methods will cut Army's storage space by 39 million sq ft, and save some $30 million yearly in operating costs. Secretary of Army operates under Single Manager concept

Defense Department Reduces Warehousing

SUFFICIENT time now has passed to warrant taking a look at our activities to see how the promising aspects of the Department of Defense's goal to "take the government out of the warehouse business" has progressed.

We believe that you will be pleased to learn the extent of the progress that has been made—good, solid, forward steps stimulated by the knowledge that the dollar for defense is a precious commodity which must be stretched to its maximum capability.

Household Goods

Albert B. Drake, former head of this department, forecast about a year ago that "in the not-toodistant future a large portion of household goods will be placed in commercial storage." This prediction now is on the threshold of reality.

With a big assist from the Department of Defense, the 84th Congress passed legislation authorizing such non-temporary storage under Public Law 245. This legislation provides that the household goods of military personnel can be placed in commercial rather than in government facilities, when this is more economical. As this article goes to press the attendant administrative details involved in carrying out this legislation are being expedited to early solution.

Interservice Supply

Perhaps the most important progress achieved by the Department of Defense stems from several policy documents relating to cross-servicing, stock levels, interservice supply support, and the positioning of material. These policies, more than any other, hit at the heart of the most frequent criticism of the Department of Defense—waste in military supply. And from preliminary reports, the Department of Defense has estimated that some $5 million will be saved each year by the use of commercial storage.

Equally important is the fact that, for the first time, the Department's new policies make possible the fulfillment of requirements for any one of the military departments without the attendant increase in cost; whether that cost be money, material, facilities, or any other national resource. To put it simply, interservice support and cross-servicing give each of the military departments access to the full potential of the entire Department of Defense's assets.

These policies provide that each military service request supply support from another military service, where such support is feasible and available. Specifically, the storage cross-servicing document requires the use of vacant storage space of one military service in an area by another service before construction of additional storage facilities in the same area is considered. This creates a sound basis for normal, routine inter-departmental use of storage facilities Department of Defense-wide.

Army to Save Much Space

Cross-servicing and other new control methods, better management techniques, stepped-up shipments of material direct from supplier to ultimate consumers, and down-to-earth reevaluation of needs will make possible, by the end of this year, the release by the Army of some 19 million sq ft of covered storage space and 20 million sq ft of uncovered storage space.

Some of this space is being turned over to our expanding Air Force, and every foot so transferred represents a foot of new construction that does not have to be built. Some will go to the General Services Administration and, likewise, obviate the need for new construction by that organization.

Editor's Note: Some months ago the Secretary for Defense, appointed A. B. Drake, prominent commercial warehouseman, as Director for Storage and Distribution. Mr. Drake was charged, in accordance with Hoover Commission recommendations, with reducing government warehousing operations.

Mr. Drake announced his plans and procedures, cautioning that such an undertaking could not be accomplished in a short time, but promising that all possible pressure would be exerted to complete the task with efficiency and dispatch. Mr. Drake found it necessary to be relieved of further direction. However, his able successors have been proceeding according to plan. Mr. Caputo, current director, has prepared an exclusive report for DISTRIBUTION AGE on accomplishments to date.

Mr. Caputo was a supply and storage specialist with the Navy and the former Munitions Board before beginning his present assignment. In 1952 he received an award from the Secretary of Defense for developing a cost-saving stevedoring contract.

By Vincent F. Caputo, Staff Director, Storage and Distribution Division, Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense

An important saving also will be realized by removing Department of Defense administrative activities from high-rent, metropolitan locations and resettling them in such of this government-owned space that can be adapted to that type of use. These are only some of the uses being made of the space being released by the Army. While description of the operation falls short of the spectacular, it is deeply impressive to note that these changes will reduce the Army's operating costs by $30 million each year. The corollary benefits also show great promise.

It is a well-known and many times proved fact that the better organized, the better standardized, and the more completely understood an operation is, the better chance it has of succeeding and making money. We all know that no matter how complex an operation might be, it is, nevertheless, merely a combination of many small and simple tasks. Thus, to teach the little things is, in essence, to teach the big things.

Storage Manual

In recognition of this, the Department of Defense has begun publication of a manual for storage and materials handling. The first sections of this fundamental manual already are in the hands of the warehousemen of the military services. As the book expands to its full potential, it is expected to serve as a stairway to better warehousing. The sections so far released deal with on-the-job training of personnel, handling and storage of lumber, and principles and practices of unit loads. They represent only the first few of 30 or more sections which will be forthcoming, and which will serve as building blocks of efficiency to save as much as possible of your tax dollar and mine.

The Department of Defense now is positioning material where the user can get to it with the least effort, consistent with economic movement from producer to consumer and minimum stockages. It now is a requirement that supply placement be tailored to meet the particular needs of an area; emphasizing the important aspect that material must be placed where it is most economically available to combat forces when required. In so doing, carload shipments directly to user, which utilizes traffic specialists for proper routing and rate advantages, are being stressed.

Local purchase, wherever feasible to meet local needs, is being encouraged. It has been established that the Department of Defense will rely upon and use the commercial distributive systems of the civilian industry, where such use will improve the distribution pattern or avoid additional construction of warehouses.

Single Manager Concept

In the matter of consolidation of effort, a step, unique in the history of military supply, recently has been taken. The Secretary of Defense has issued a policy innovation known as the Single Manager concept of supply management, presently applied to the commodity area of subsistence. Under this new approach, the Secretary of the Army has been designated as the Single Manager with responsibility for the wholesale supply management of all subsistence items for all military services.

This is extremely far reaching in effect in that the Single Manager is responsible for computing net requirements; for the control of all purchases; for research, development and standardization; for the inventory management and distribution of all such material. Furthermore, he owns, in a special stock fund, all wholesale stocks of the goods. In performing these functions, the Single Manager operates through a distribution system which utilizes the existing facilities and skills of all services.

Here is the way his distribution patterns works: For each geographical area, there has been selected a single distribution depot from which all military installations in that area will draw their subsistence supplies. Though the area depot may be Army-, Navy,-Air Force-, or Marine Corps-owned, the subsistence items stored there are owned by, and under the management control of, the Single Manager.

The service affiliations of the depots' customers are inconsequential since, for that area, there is no other military source of this com-

Part II Ties & Tie Plates

Maintenance and Repair

An expert knowledge of railroading is not necessary for the installation of a successful track maintenance program. Day-to-day preventive maintenance and minor track repair should be part of a plant's normal operation. Ties, because they form the bearing and anchor surfaces, need special attention

By R. A. Anderson Vice President, L. B. Foster Co. Pittsburgh, Pn.

Old, rotted, split tie, completely deteriorated—probably caused by poor drainage in track area. Weakened condition of tie resulted in deterioration of joint, loose bolts, rail damage, etc.

AS POINTED out in the first article in this series (DA, Jan., 1956, p. 28), maintenance of industrial trackage has an important bearing on plant and warehouse operation, both from the economic and the physical efficiency stand-points.

Improper track maintenance, or lack of a maintenance program, often result in delayed movement of goods, excessive demurrage charges, and costly damage to track and equipment.

Day-to-day preventive maintenance and repair of industrial trackage should be part of a plant's normal operation. It does not take expert knowledge of railroad operation to perform such services. Of course, original design, installation, and major repairs should be left to the experts—principally track contractors.

Ties form the base of the track structure and act both as the bearing surface and the anchor surface to which the other components are tied. While so-called substitute ties of various designs and materials—principally metal or concrete—have been devised, the standard and most widely used material for tie construction is wood.

Wood ties are either of the treated or untreated type. Treated ties, which have been processed with a preservative such as creosote, are more expensive but have a far longer life than the untreated type. Unless a track installation is to be in use for five years or longer, the added investment for treated ties is unwarranted.

Ties are classified according to use as cross ties and switch ties. Cross ties are the basic type and are used under the major portion of the track. Switch ties are used throughout the length of crossings, crossovers, branch-offs or turnouts, etc.

For industrial work, cross ties are used in a standard 8 ft., 6-in. length. Switch ties vary in length from 9 to 16 ft. The cross-section dimensional classification for ties is as follows:

Size	Thickness (In.)	Width (In.)
0	5	5
1	6	6
2	6	7
4	7	8
6	7	10

For heavy traffic areas in the plant, it is advisable to use sizes No. 4, or No. 5; for light traffic areas, sizes No. 2 or No. 3 are adequate.

In purchasing ties, it is important to deal with reputable firms which follow standard specifications of the industry, including choice of woods, quality, cutting, etc. Ties must be of high quality and sound structure to take severe punishment over an extended period of time.

Before new ties are installed, they should be inspected carefully to see that there is no checking or incipient splitting, and that they are up to specified dimensions. It is sometimes the practice to shave the width an inch below the specified figure, seriously reducing the necessary bearing surface.

For temporary service, it is economical to purchase used rather than new ties, although the used ties should be inspected carefully before they are approved.

Maintenance and Repair

To retard splitting and checking of ties, caused by exposure to extremes of weather, it is advisable to use antichecking tie irons. These are "S" shaped iron strips, available in various lengths. They are driven into the end sections of the ties.

Another step for maintaining the structural integrity of the ties is the use of tie plugs. Creosoted tie plugs come in standard dimensions and are inexpensive. They are driven into old spike holes to prevent decay and provide good holding power for new spikes. The plugs are of the softer woods because they fill the spike holes better, they absorb moisture, and swell, and are less inclined to split the tie than hardwood plugs.

Probably the single most important reason for tie failure is mechanical damage and wear due to rail or plate cutting, spike killing, ballast abrasion and loose rail, rail joints and other connections. Tie damage also can occur from improper handling.

Ties should be moved only with tie tongs—instead of bars, chisels, forks, mauls, picks, shovels or sledges, which can make holes in the ties and permit the entrance of decay-causing moisture.

Ties located where locomotive ash pans are emptied regularly should be covered with metal sheets to protect them from being burned.

It is good practice to remove crushed fibers by adzing at points where the tie has been damaged excessively, and to apply hot creosote to the new surface. This will prevent entrance of moisture at the exposed area.

When a tie, due to excessive wear and mechanical damage, has deteriorated to the point where its structure is not sound enough to adequately anchor the track, it should be replaced.

Old ties can be removed and new ties installed with a tie-puller, a device which generally employs the jacking principle or a winch-type mechanism. The advantage of this tool over simpler hand tools is the fact that it requires little ballast digging; it lessens the disturbance of the ballast and roadbed and thereby eliminates later settlement of the tie.

Tie cutting machines also can be (Please Turn to Page 58)

Pneumatic-Tired Truck

A new lightweight hand truck equipped with pneumatic tires has been introduced by The Hamilton Caster & Mfg. Co. The Lite - N - Tuff hand truck has been specially designed to reduce the effects of load jar on fragile cargo when moving over rough ground, jumping curbs, etc. The pneumatic tires serve to cushion the shock of impact, and also give added protection to floors and floor coverings. The new trucks are capacity rated to carry 400 lb, and are available in single and double-handle models.

A lighter, faster, and more efficient stencil cutting machine has been announced by Diagraph-Bradley Industries, Inc. The company claims six improvements in

Palletless Handling

A combination fork truck attachment for palletless handling of equipment in crates or in drumtype fiber cartons has been developed by Baker-Raulang Co. The unit combines Baker's finger-lift device with a special addition for handling fibre cartons.

The finger-lift attachment mounts 40 spring-loaded fingers across its top. As the attachment contacts a crate, the fingers which encounter crate members are pushed back against their springs, out of the way. Those which find no obstruction enter the crate. When the attachment is lifted, these engage horizontal crate members, and the crate is thus lifted.

The new addition to the attachment includes two vertical swiveled plates, called carton lip plates, mounted above the fingers.

New Width for Conveyors

Rapistan has added 24-in. widths to its most popular lines of conveyors. Rapid Wheel and 1.75 Rapid Roller conveyors now are available in this new width.

Rapid Wheel gravity conveyors also are available in 12- and 18-in. widths. The 24-in. wide Rapid Roller also is available in the 1.9- and 2-in. roller series. Also, for the first time, Rapistan is offering 24-in. Rapid Wheel and 24-in. 1.75 Rapid Roller conveyors set lower in deeper frames. This type frame has the effect of providing built-in permanent guard rails for safer handling of packages and other materials.

Lifting-Type Conveyor

The Red Cross Mfg. Co. has unveiled a small loading or lifting type conveyor for handling bulk materials and small packaged goods. Model 88 Load-'r-Lift has a hopper 7½ in. long, with a discharge end 3 ft high. It may be extended 6 ft in either direction by the addition of auxiliary sections. The long length of the receiving hopper means that nearly

Road Shock Dampers

Road shock dampers that give light trucks the steering safety and riding comfort of an automobile have been developed by GMC Truck & Coach Div. Mounted behind the trucks' front wheels, the dampers counteract road jolts with floating weights that slide downward in metal cylinders when bumps are encountered.

The road shock damper consists of an 11.8- x 4.4-in. metal cylinder containing a 12-lb steel weight sandwiched between two coil springs. The weight slides along a steel rod running the length of the cylinder. Tension of the springs has been adjusted so that the vibration frequency (bounce) of the damper weight opposes the vibration frequency of the vehicles' front wheels. When the wheels bounce into the air, the weight plunges downward in the cylinder, muting the upward girations of the wheels and deadening the vibration normally transmitted to the body of the vehicle.

Chevrolet Line Features Automatic Transmission

Circle 106 on Card Facing Page 53

A new six-speed automatic transmission, designed for increased safety and vehicular control, leads the list of developments introduced in Chevrolet's 1956 truck fleet. The new line of 65 models, available on 15 different wheelbases, features:

Automatic transmissions for all models except school buses. The new Powermatic six-speed unit is offered on 15 models in the twoton group. A new optional heavyduty five-speed manual shift transmission is available on a total of 17 two-ton models.

More powerful V-8 and 6-cyl engines. The total of nine engines includes four V-8s and five sixes.

Safety advances, including new sealed beam headlights, an optional governor for the high powered truck V-8 and a hydraulic retarder, which is part of the Powermatic mechanism augmenting the regular braking system.

Electric Typewriter

Billing, statistical and other typing which requires the frequent return to either of two different left-hand margins, now can be handled quickly, simply and accurately with the new Remington Rand electric typewriter with intermediate margin stop.

The special-application typewriter eliminates the need for a tabulating or space bar operation when starting the indented paragraph or column. Exact, even lefthand margins are assured by just a touch of a key, with the carriage in position at either the first or the indented paragraph as required.

Skid Lift Truck

A portable skid lift truck, available in 2,000 to 5,000-lb capacities, has been added to the Samson line of hydraulic hoists. The operator can raise or lower a load either on a skid or platform.

ACF Introduces All-in-One Railroad Car

Circle 109 on Card Facing Page 53

A completely new design of railroad car, which can be converted to almost any type of freight car, has been revealed by ACF Industries, Inc.

Known as the ADAPTO, an allin-one basic car, it is a low-cost, interchangeable, lightweight car. Equipped with standard couplers, its weight and its cost are only about one-half that of standard types of freight cars with comparable equipment.

New features of this four-wheel, 35-ft long car include fixed axles, air-cushioned suspension, rubber draft gear, roller bearings, and a self-cleaning floor. This is a marked departure from today's 52-ft long flat car. The new car is able to carry over 70,000 lb, more than three times its own weight.

The basic all-in-one design lends itself to box, container-hopper, gondola, tank car, hopper car, caboose, and to piggy-back service. This is achieved by the interchange of removable superstructures on the car's platform, which has automatic leveling valves to keep the platform loading height constant.

Flat-Plate Batteries

The Electric Storage Battery Co. has introduced a new line of flat-plate motive power batteries. Using the trade name Exide-Powerclad, they are described as premium flat-plate batteries with triple insulation. The new batteries are for use in electric industrial fork and lift trucks, mine locomotive power, and marine applications. Powerclad positive plate grids are constructed of silvium, a corrosion-resistant alloy which has brought new service life and capacity standards to the industry. Vitrex and perforated polyvinyl chloride retainers, a polyethylene insulating strip, and a deeply grooved microporous rubber separator are used to achieve better positive plate insulation.

Medium-Duty Caster

The Caster Div., of Gleason, announces the addition of a "50-55" medium-duty series to their line of casters. The new series features plate and stem-type swivel and stationary casters, with heavy-duty rubber wheels. Stems are offered in different types and sizes. Cushion tread or hard tread wheels can be furnished with load ratings up to 600 lb per caster.

Double-Frame Truck

Lamson Mobilift Corp. announces a new double-frame principle of construction in the 4000-lb capacity Model D-424 and 3000-lb capacity Model M-324 fork truck. This new concept completely eliminates the possibility of damaging torsional stress being transmitted to the power train. The main frame assembly is bolted to the counterweight and to the mounting sleeves on the drive axle which, in effect, makes both the counterweight and drive axle a part of the frame. A cross member is added to the frame for additional strength and to insure alignment.

Dragline Cart

Lewis-Shepard Products, Inc., has marketed a new overhead-type dragline cart which features a telescopic tubular extendible mast. The mast has two handles, one for engaging the truck to the dragline and one for disengaging from the line. The upper handle grip is used to raise the extension and engage it in the overhead line. The lower handle pivots at its top and serves as a lock to hold the extension in the raised position. To disengage the truck from the line by lowering the extension mast, the operator merely pulls the lower handle out slightly. The mast then drops and its fall is cushioned by a rubber pad. The minimum deck size is 48 in. long x 32 in. wide and the deck height is $7\frac{1}{2}$ in.

Humidity-Resistant Board

Mead Corp. has introduced a new fiberboard called HH Corrugating Medium, especially processed to fortify containers against destructive wilt caused by high humidity. In HH Board, Mead retains the qualities processed into their Chestnut corrugating medium; while endowing it with much higher rigidity. A high percentage of this extra rigidity holds even in 90 per cent relative humidity.

HH Board is both odorless and non-toxic, without foreign substance to contaminate container contents or render waste unusable. HH Board puts higher top-to-bottom and end-to-end compression into containers; is said to match the strength of doublewall board.

Fruehauf Introduces High-Tensile Steel Van

Circle 117 on Card Facing Page 53

Fruehauf Trailer Co. announces a new volume van of high tensile corrugated steel. It is available in both full van and open top models, the latter being particularly suitable for heavy-duty operations.

These new models have no drilled or punched holes to weaken the structure. Being completely welded, the entire van forms a one-piece box structure.

The vertical columns in this van structure are formed by overlapping adjoining sheets and uniting them with double rows of welds from the roof to the floor. Wide stress sheets are located at the bottom of each side wall to reinforce the trailer structure.

The vans are of the high-cubic capacity type designed to give maximum payload with superior functional qualities. The front corners of the van have a 10-in. radius, permitting close coupling as well as contributing to bigger payloads. The doors are braced by hat sections, but still are only one inch thick.

Modern Traffic Department Series

AT THE Maytag Co., the general traffic manager reports to the controller and heads a department charged with transportation management, cost control and service. These functions all are interrelated and each is practiced to some degree by the various sections of the traffic department.

Sometimes, because of factors over which the company has no control, one phase of an activity may be sacrificed in favor of another; such as when it is necessary to provide service to a customer without proper regard to cost. The slogan of the company is, "Get the best type of transportation necessary to satisfy our customers, as well as ourselves, at the lowest possible charge compatible with such service."

The Three Functions

The three functions of traffic management as carried on at Maytag may be described as follows:

TRANSPORTATION MANAGEMENT-As distinguished from transportation cost control and service, this function is concerned with obtaining equipment to move freight, and then being sure that this equipment is used to the best advantage. The department advises in the functional operation of shipping and receiving, sets up routines to be followed for routing, classification, shipping documents and other nonphysical functions which require detailed treatment. It also selects the type of carrier to be used for particular shipments, attends to tracing and expediting, and to diverting and reconsigning shipments.

Transportation Cost Control.

—The theory governing the performance of this function is that "a dollar saved in transportation costs can be just as important as a dollar saved in production." Cost control is divided into two classes: Cost accounting and cost reduction.

The traffic department carries on its cost control activities by

Gearing for Transport Cost Control

Maytag's three-way traffic management pattern includes transportation management, cost control, and cost prevention proper freight classification, securing correct freight rates and by freight bill auditing. Because this company ships so many different articles, the classification procedure is complex and it is a most important factor in determining cost.

Like any other shipper, Maytag is entitled to the classification which will produce the lowest rate, provided the article honestly meets the classification description. For example, calling an agitator for a Maytag washer merely an "agitator" could result in a high classification; whereas, to classify it properly according to classification principles and procedures, it should be called a "washing machine part, other than metal." Cost accounting of transportation cannot be maintained without a thorough knowledge of freight classification.

Rates and Costs

Of course, freight rates are the determining factor in computing transportation costs. If at any time it is felt that a rate is unreasonable, the traffic department initiates requests for a change before the proper rate regulatory body. Without a competent person figuring rates, the other functions of the department cannot operate to best advantage. Therefore, close watch is kept over control of rates applied to the articles shipped and received.

After the proper description or classification of an article is applied and the correct freight rate computed, the department goes into the next step of cost accounting which is the auditing of freight bills. This is far-reaching as it covers classifications, rates, routes, weights, bills of lading and quantities.

Primarily, freight bills are audited to determine the accuracy of transportation charges. Audit is made prior to payment and again after payment has been made. Er-

Basic Considerations of Bonded Warehousing

Is it true that only 'bonded warehouse' receipts are acceptable as collateral? This warehousing association executive says many think so, as he explains the meaning and functions of bonding

N THE terminology relating to the warehousing industry, the words "bonded warehouse" probably are the least understood by the general public and, in many instances, by warehousing customers. For example, despite continuing educational efforts by bankers and warehousemen, an entirely erroneous belief persists that only warehouse receipts issued by a bonded warehouse are acceptable as collateral. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Because there is a widespread impression that a bonded warehouse, per se, affords some special security not afforded by an unbonded warehouse, let us evaluate the term and explore its significance to a storer or warehouse receipt holder.

U. S. Bonded Warehouses

First, there are two types of U. S. bonded warehouses: Customs bonded and Internal Revenue bonded houses.

The need for Customs bonded warehousing has resulted from the fact that the federal government imposes protective import duties on certain commodities manufactured in foreign countries. Until the duty is paid, the government retains control of the goods.

According to law, imports awaiting collection of duty must be stored at the importers expense, in the custody of warehousemen willing and able to furnish a bond that such commodities will not be released until the necessary duties are paid. For convenience to importers, the government has established 46 custom districts covering 289 ports of entry in which there are many Customs bonded warehouses.

In the case of Internal Revenue bonded warehouses, the government employs a similar means of guaranteeing its receipt of payments on goods produced in the United States which are subject to the internal revenue tax.

The bond of a Customs bonded or Internal Revenue bonded warehouse, in itself, affords no bonded protection to the depositor of the goods.

Second, warehousemen may be licensed under the United States Warehouse Act to store basic agricultural commodities, and they post a bond in connection therewith. Since licenses under the United States Warehouse Act are issued only for the storage of basic agricultural products, most often in connection with bulk storage near the point of production, very few public merchandise warehousemen have occasion to be bonded and licensed under that Act. Such a license or bond would be of little or no significance to the regular commercial shipper.

State Bonding

It is in the field of state licensing and bonding of public warehouses that the greatest area of misunderstanding occurs. In 22 states public merchandise warehouses must be licensed by the state before they legally can be in business. In 15 of those a bond is required.

In those 15, the warehousemen file a bond (or warehouseman's legal liability insurance policy) with a state agency, court, or other official. The amount of the bond may bear some relation to the size of the warehousing operation, but there is little uniformity among the states in the method of establishing the amount of bond required.

The minimum amount may be less than $5,000 in some states, and maximum amounts in excess of $50,000 in others. The bond, where required, is for the protection of the storer in the event that the warehouseman defaults in meeting his liability as a warehouseman under law.

As statutes and enforcement procedures vary between states, and as state legislatures and regulatory bodies are prone to make changes to meet circumstances of the moment, any listing of details of the requirements in the various states would be of only transitory value. However, it may be said that, in some states, the bonding requirement is of little significance, while in others the existence of a bonding statute and the posting of a bond by a warehouseman may well mean that an ex-

Is warehouseman liable for loss if it can't be proved his negligence caused loss?

Leading questions are: "Suppose that stored goods are damaged, lost or destroyed. Will the court hold the warehouseman liable without proving that the warehouseman's negligence caused the loss? Is a warehouseman liable in damages for lost or destroyed stored goods, when no definite proof is given that his negligence caused the loss?"

A review of late decisions discloses that circumstantial evidence may be sufficient to convict a warehouseman and hold him liable for loss, damage, or destruction of stored merchandise. This is so, especially, if a jury decides, after listening to all testimony, that the loss resulted from the warehouseman's negligence.

For example, in D—— Warehouse Co. v. W——, 172 Fed. Rep. (2d) 910, the testimony showed facts as follows: One W—— stored in a warehouse a large quantity of merchandise. One night a fire, of unknown origin, destroyed the warehouse and the merchandise owned by W——.

In subsequent litigation, the warehouse company's counsel argued that the warehouse company could not be liable because W—— failed to prove that the fire was caused by the negligence of the warehouse company's employes. However, W—— proved these facts. The officials of the warehouse company:

 Failed to have a night watchman on duty at the time of the fire;

Permitted inflammable trash to collect in the warehouse; and Permitted smoking by employes in the room where the merchandise was stored.

W---alleged that these acts were the proximate and real cause of the fire. Based upon these facts, the jury entered judgment in favor of Wand against the warehouse company for the value of the merchandise. The higher court approved the verdict, saying:

"It is for the jury to determine whether the specific acts of negligence proximately contributed to the fire. Of course there was no direct evidence tending to show that any specific act of negligence was the proximate cause, but it was a permissible inference from the facts as found."

In this case the jury decided that by circumstantial evidence it was justified in surmising that the merchandise was destroyed as a result of the warehouseman's negligence in failing to provide a night watchman; failing to keep the warehouse clear of trash; and failing to prevent employes smoking in the room where the broomcorn was stored. The higher court approved the jury's decision.

For comparison, see L. v. S. Storage & Van Co., 24 So. (2d) 682. This court said:

"A warehouseman, in order to escape responsibility for the loss of goods intrusted to its care, must show that the loss did not occur through its fault."

For further comparison, see R—v. T—, 222 S. W. (2d) 399. Here it was shown a warehouse building burned and the goods stored therein was destroyed. The owner of the destroyed goods sued the warehouse company for damages and alleged that the warehouse company was negligent for reasons, as follows:

 In storing the goods in a place which was not proper to be used for the purpose;

2. In failing to have a night watchman in the building at night; and

 In failing to have an automatic sprinkler system in the building which was capable of putting out any fire that might occur.

The jury decided that:

The warehouse company's failure to keep a night watchman inside the warehouse at night was negli-

That its failure to have an automatic sprinkler system in the building was negligence.

Hence, the jury held the warehouse company liable for full value of the destroyed goods. The higher court approved the verdict, saying:

"It was the duty of appellant (warehouse company) to exercise ordinary care to prevent fire, and, also to employ means to arrest it and prevent damage by reason of it."

If a warehouseman claims his house is fireproof, is he liable otherwise as an 'insurer'?

Another important point of law is that if a warehouseman leads a patron to believe that the warehouse is fireproof he is liable otherwise as an insurer of the stored goods.

For instance, in F— v. J—Storage Co., 246 N.W. 147, it disclosed that a warehouseman before witnesses stated that his warehouse was fireproof. The patron stored his merchandise in the warehouse which later caught fire, and the stored goods were burned.

The owner of the destroyed goods sued the warehouseman to recover the full value of the goods. The counsel for the warehouseman attempted to avoid liability on the grounds that the warehouse receipt contained a clause that there would be no liability for loss or damage by fire. Notwithstanding this testimony the higher court held the warehouseman liable.

In this case testimony was given by the warehouseman that he had automatic sprinklers in the warehouse, and that a regular watchman was on duty. However, this testimony had no effect to reduce the warehouseman's ordinary liability because the owner of the goods testified that he relied upon and believed the warehouseman's statement that the warehouse was fireproof.

Maintenance and Repair . . .

used to facilitate this work. The gasoline-driven unit cuts the ties into three pieces for easy removal.

Tie spacers are used, as the name implies, to facilitate spacing of newly installed ties. They are of 'wo general types: A simple lighteight attachment designed to fit all makes of track jacks; and an individual tool consisting of a rail clamp and a leverage arrangement with an extension handle.

Another tool used for tie installation is the tie nipper, which is designed to hold a tie tightly against the base of the rail during spiking and tamping operations. Depending upon the model, they are operated either manually or pneumatically.

Plate Application

Tie plates provide the following advantages:

- 1. They distribute the load from the rail to the tie, providing uniform bearing surface for the rail on the tie, as well as retaining a true bearing without movement of any kind;
- They give the rail the proper cant, when required for curves and other traffic conditions;
- 3. They hold the rail rigidly to gage, by means of a bearing shoulder for one or both sides of the rail base;
- They protect the ties against undue wear and damage.

Although there are many designs of tie plates on the market, for industrial use the single shoulder tie plate is satisfactory and economical. They should be of sufficient base thickness and area to distribute traffic loads adequately. In ordering tie plates, the following information should be supplied so that they can be accurately fabricated: Width of rail at base and rail section, number and location of spike holes, and length and width.

Tie plates are made of steel not so soft that they will bend, and not so hard that they will break. Width is limited to the width of the tie; the length should afford the required bearing area on the tie, plus a safe margin of metal between its edges and the holes punched for the track spikes.

Substantial economies can be obtained by purchasing used rather than new tie plates—if the source is a reputable dealer, and if the tie plates are inspected carefully to see that dimensions and punching are accurate and uniform.

When tie plates are installed care should be taken to make sure that the plates have a full even bearing on the tie and that the shoulder of the plate rests against the base of the rail along the full width. The shoulder of the plate should not be permitted to remain under the base of the rail. To provide a level bearing, the tie area where the plate is to be placed should be adzed flat.

It is sometimes desirable to use track pads as a means of reducing tie damage caused by plates. The pads are proprietary products designed for insertion between the tie and tie plate. They act to reduce plate cutting and mechanical wear of the ties, as well as to provide a cushion for the absorption of impact and to deaden noise.

To protect tie plates and other components of the track structure from the corrosive effects of brine drippings from refrigerator cars,

Riding on Air

This GMC Truck and Coach Div. experimental tractor-trailer rides on rubberized air-filled bellows instead of conventional leaf springs. The vehicle, with air suspension on both the tractor and trailer, was shown for the first time last month at the Chicago Automobile Show. Air metered into the bellows keeps floor heights at a constant level and absorbs road jolts and high frequency sea water, etc., continued applications of hot oil of a high asphaltic content can be used with satisfactory results.

There are four classes of track spikes and similar rail fastenings in use:

- 1. Compression spring-type fast-
- Compression spring clips and bolts.
 - 3. Cut spikes and
 - 4. Screw spikes.

The compression spring - type spike is one-piece, but is made with two back-to-back leaves of high-carbon or spring steel.

Compression spring-type fastenings consist of a spring steel clip provided with a projection which fits into the tie plate punchings, and a hook bolt which fastens the spring to the tie plate. While the spring type fastenings can be used to hold down the tie plates independent of the rail, they essentially are rail-hold fastenings. They are designed to provide increased holding power over conventional types.

Cut spikes are the most commonly used type of fastening for holding rails directly to ties. Together with screw spikes, they also are used for securing the tie plates to the ties independently of the rails.

Four holes for rail - holding spikes, two along each side of the rail seat, usually are provided in the tie plates. Good spiking practice requires that rail spikes be staggered on the gage and field sides of the rail.

Although one rail spike hole may be used on each side of the rail, two are punched as noted above to permit use of additional spikes on curves or other locations where lateral rail thrust tends to widen gage, and to avoid the necessity of having right and left hand plates for complying with standard spiking practice.

Regular inspection of tie plates and rail fastenings is important. Spikes that loosen should be redriven immediately; corroded, damaged or broken spikes should be replaced promptly. Spikes are pulled with a hand tool known as a spike puller, and spikes are driven with a railroad spike maul.

The next article in this series will cover rails, rail anchors, and rail joint bars.

the sound principle of transportation law which is that of equality of treatment of the shipping public. Gurney and Denney hold this to be "illegal as a matter of law, and even if it were not, to be an unwise departure from the basic principles of transportation policy which will have a most detrimental effect upon the industry and the public."

This is not the first time that a CAB order has shown lack of understanding of transport economics. Present air cargo rates of the combination airlines and the aircargo-only carriers are at little or nothing above the breakeven level. The carriers are in no better economic position to give rate concessions to forwarders than to reduce rates to shippers. The system of special rate agreements between forwarders and the airlines is bound to result in the complete breakdown of our present cargo rate structure.

Rates granted to forwarders will depend entirely on the relative bargaining position of the strongest forwarder and the weakest carrier. Such rates, if previous transportation history can be taken as a guide, will be based upon relative economic strength, and will be set with little regard to costs and other sound rate-making considerations. This will result in depressing the entire rate level as each carrier joins in the rates of the carrier least able to withstand forwarder pressure.

The result will be virtual nullification of the protection to economic rate levels now provided by the Board's minimum rate order despite the many departures which have been allowed from its original figures. If the Board believed that air cargo rates should and can be lowered, it would have been better to handle the matter directly by means of a general rate order resulting in lower rates to shippers than probably will be attained by special rates to forwarders.

modity available to the various military installations. In short, for food, there now is a single supply system for the continental U.S.

It is the avowed intent of the Department of Defense to push to the optimum extent new concepts and innovations which promise to yield many benefits-not only in actual dollar savings, but in better armed security. For, essentially, the Armed Forces exist for the sole purpose of being able to wage war. Thus, the paramount concern of supply is to be prepared to extend ample and timely support to a war effort. This fact of life does not preclude, however, the exertion of every effort to provide such readiness at the least possible cost.

In line with this type of thinking, the supply people are carrying on a continuing crusade to conduct supply on the most realistic possible basis. Requirements must be kept to the minimum, purchases must be held to those items for which need actually exists, inventory management techniques must derive the maximum utility from the lowest practicable levels of stock, shipments must be made in the most economical manner, storage must be performed in the most efficient manner, and all other phases of this mammoth supply operation must be streamlined so as to wring the last possible drop of economical utilization out of every dollar allocated for supply.

Probably the most important development has been an intangible thing, something without which all plans would fail—the spirit of cooperation and singleness of purpose which has permeated the air among the military services.

Enthusiastic individuals are to be found everywhere. When you say, "Trim away the fat, consolidate the effort, introduce new ideas to enhance efficiency"—these are the men who can and will do it.

rors discovered prior to payment of the bills are deducted from the final payment, and errors discovered on the post-audit are recovered by the use of overcharge claims.

During a recent year a pre-audit was made of 16,735 freight bills and recovery amounted to over $9,000. Overcharge claims, as a result of post auditing amounted to an estimated $3,000.

TRANSPORTATION COST PREVEN-TION—Cost prevention covers such activities as loss and damage prevention work; advising on methods of loading freight in the carrier's equipment; and watching demurrage in the belief that a freight car should not be used as a warehouse on wheels. Cost prevention functions are activities which result in the control and reduction of costs through elimination of the source of expense.

Maytag is a great believer in loss and damage claim prevention. Merely replacing goods damaged or lost in transit does not soothe the customer's annoyance. Therefore, the traffic department attempts to reduce damage on shipments and improve service to customers by periodically analyzing claims filed by dealers who buy fob factory, to determine the causes.

Poor methods of packing and packaging are among some of the more important causes of loss and and damage claims. While the actual packaging is not primarily the function of the traffic department, it suggests methods of improving packages as far as transportation considerations are concerned.

The department is interested in packaging from another viewpoint, too, and that is weight. Keeping the weight as low as possible, without sacrificing durability, is important but is secondary to claim prevention.

Comment by Dr. Frederick

It has been said that "the first and by far the most important step in the solution of our transportation problems will be accomplished when top level industrial management makes the decision to treat transportation as a major industrial problem and not simply regard it as a necessary evil."

The concept of transportation cost control is not new but attacking the problem with adequate technique and professional standards of accomplishment is an outgrowth of the steady increases in transportation rates and handling costs in recent years. Significant savings in transportation costs have been and can be achieved through careful traffic management and particularly by removing the causes of unnecessary costs before expenses occur.

Top management in many companies still is unfamiliar with how transportation cost control works or the type of organization necessary to accomplish it. It is hoped that the sample traffic department organizations outlined in this series of articles will serve to point the way toward the creation of sufficiently adequate organizations for the administration of transportation cost control in companies now handicapped without it. Adequate organization is basic to the success of the function, and the creation of such an organization is the responsibility of top management.

As Professor Frank M. Cushman of Northeastern University has pointed out recently, "total transportation cost control does not consist of simply a low rate by a reasonably rapid route. On the contrary, it consists of a program of close supervision over all transportation activity, both incoming and outgoing, together with close coordination between transportation and purchasing on the one hand and between transportation and sales on the other hand-all for the purpose of developing a smooth flow of incoming raw materials at the lowest possible cost as an effective feeder for efficient production processes, and then providing a rapid flow of finished product to the customer; since the satisfaction of the customer is the ultimate aim of all industrial activity." .

... Bonded Warehousing

haustive study of his facilities and his responsibility has been made by state authorities or by a bonding company.

From the above and from the fact that in two-thirds of the 48 states it is not legally possible for a warehouse to be a "bonded warehouse" in the sense that we are discussing, it is obvious that the customer must look farther in his efforts to anticipate the measure of security to be afforded his stored goods.

Equal Legal Responsibility

First, he should know that all warehousemen in the United States have an equal and specific legal responsibility for the care of the goods entrusted to their custody, and the existence of a bond in no wise assures a greater degree of responsibility for the exercise of that care. The Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, law in all states except Pennsylvania, states, in its Section 21:

"Liability for Care of Goods. A warehouseman shall be liable for any loss or injury to the goods caused by his failure to exercise such care in regard to them as a reasonably careful owner of similar goods would exercise, but he shall not be liable, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, for any loss or injury to the goods which could not have been avoided by the exercise of such care."

In Pennsylvania's Commercial Code a similar provision applies.

Basic Considerations

The awareness of the warehouseman of his obligation under the law, and his ability to fulfill that obligation, are basic considerations in selecting a warehouse to assume responsibility for storage and distribution of one's goods. The prospective storer logically must concern himself, therefore, with the responsibility, integrity, and warehousing experience of the warehouseman.

That a surety company has furnished a bond presupposes a measure of responsibility of the warehouse proprietor. However, a warehouseman operating in a state in which there is no bonding statute may be equally or more competent than some operators in states where statutes, limited in scope, exist.

In either instance, the financial responsibility of the warehouse company, the individual integrity of the operator, and his established reputation as a capable warehouseman are the important considerations to the customer. These considerations, incidentally, are the same ones that govern admission of a public merchandise warehouseman to membership in the American Warehousemen's Association.

In summary, it would seem that the significance of the term bonded warehouse has been greatly overrated, if not completely misunderstood. Even those warehousemen in states where there are substantial and well enforced bonding statutes would be the first to assure their customers that the question of whether or not a warehouse is bonded is but one of many to consider in selecting a safe depository for merchandise.

SAVE UP TO 33% CASH OUTLAY ON ELECTRIC TRUCKS

New Exide leasing plan points the way to lower materials handling costs

Look how many ways Exide-powered electric industrial trucks can save you money just through operating economies: no wasted power when the truck is stopped; faster handling of materials; no unscheduled downtime; no high repair bills. Added safety feature-no bothersome fumes or noise. You pay for Exide power as you use it-the same as with other forms of power. But electric trucks give you over twice the operating life. Additional shifts multiply the economies.

Now you can have all these advantages at a new low initial investment-through the Exide leasing plan. And you get famous Exide-Ironclad heavy duty batteries with the unique positive plate.

Electrolyte flows easily through slotted power tubes to reach more active material faster. Result: an Exide-Ironclad delivers more power quicker for a longer time at lower cost.

Get all the facts and figures on how the Exide leasing plan can meet your particular requirements. Call your Exide sales representative. Talk with any electric truck salesman. Send the coupon.

Want an IDEA?

to help solve a handling problem? Rapistan ideas are different - and save you money, time, space and effort!

Time after time, Rapistan men have solved materials handling problems which seemed to have no solution. And they've been able to cut costs for many customers by detecting trouble spots, and suggesting a remedy. These are typical of the Rapistan ideas which have solved problems for all types of industries. . . .

A stack-up saved jam-ups

The problem was to provide in-process storage for quantities of a product released from baking ovens at one time, but processed at a regular rate.

The solution was a two story spiral accumulator of wheel conveyor. The result is smooth production flow, and a saving of $30,000 in construction cost.

Go signal for stop & go assembly line

The problem was to provide a steady flow of work on a progressive assembly line with slightly different time requirements at each work station.

The solution was gravity wheel accumulators connecting work stations to provide a backlog of work-in-process.

The result is a smooth flow of assemblies without work stoppage, and the elimination of costly handling between stations.

The problem was to provide access to three floors from a receiving dock where space limitations made conventional equipment impractical.

The solution was a Floorveyor with a special bearing equipped pivot boot and a 1000 lb, electrical hoist,

The result is a power belt conveyor that can be raised or lowered to meet conveyor lines located in basement and on first and second floor.

Rapistan ideas come from the combined experience of more than 200 field men, who work with the most progressive engineering department in the business. Rapistan men face new problems every day . . . meet many which are new only to the customer. Similar problems, already solved by Rapistan for other customers, often make the solution simple and speedy. You owe it to yourself to call on Rapistan for materials handling ideas that can save you money, time and effort, too!

loads and unloads trucks at ground level

 GOOD NEWS! Now you can load and unload motor trucks from ground level with RAYMOND Porta-dock. This portable dock actually eliminates the need for permanent loading docks, elevators or truck wells. Ideal for use by factories, warehouses, and wholesale distributors.

 RAYMOND Porta-dock rolls right up to tailgate of over-theroad truck. A hand or power truck, elevated to motor truck bed, transfers unit loads to Porta-dock. Load is then lowered to floor and transported to production or storage.

 PORTA-DOCK is available in 4,000 or 6,000 lb. capacities . . . elevates up to 561/4". Plugs into electric outlet or may be battery powered. Push button elevating and lowering controls. Highly portable . . . use it indoors or out. Folds compactly for storage.

Dependability for the L-O-N-G Haul WISCONSIN Heavy-Duty

This Buda Chore Boy is powered by a 2-cylinder Wisconsin Heavy-Duty Air-Cooled Engine. Builder is The Buda Co., Div. Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., Harvey, Ill. The unit tows up to 20-ton loads, has a top speed of 10 mph, turns in a radius of 79 inches, and measures only 40 inches wide, 97 inches long.

Air-Cooled ENGINES

Choice of power for this unit was logically a Wisconsin Engine because of such superior features as thrust-absorbing tapered roller bearings positive air-cooling and a fool-proof, high-tension OUTSIDE magneto for easiest servicing.

You can't do better than to specify "Wisconsin Power" for your equipment. Write for Bulletin 5-165, describing the full line of Wisconsin Air-Cooled Engines, from 3 to 36 hp.

First: Exact requirements for a specific truck in the FG line were thoroughly analyzed. Then our engineers, working with a top manufacturer of heavy-duty industrial gas engines, chose the power plant specifically to meet these requirements. Even internal parts of the engine were balanced. For example, our specifications call for pistons balanced to \pm 2 grams instead of the conventional \pm 2 ounces.

Next: Transmission was selected to match the power plant and geared to provide required speeds and acceleration. In conjunction with the largest builder of axles in the country, the drive axle was developed to match power plant and transmission.

Lifting mechanism was selected to meet requirements and to be coordinated with power train and other components. Mast was engineered for the maximum safe lift, within the stability ratio of the frame which was designed for exceptionally low center of gravity. The standard Baker wideangle steer, rubber mounted, trailing axle was modified to match the other elements.

Result: 100% Balanced Design

-another Baker "First".

Baker "FG" gas fork trucks are available with 3,000, 4,000, 5,000 and 6,000 pound capacities. Specific bulletins can be obtained by writing The Baker-Raulang Company, 1216 West 80th Street, Cleveland 2, Ohio.

A Subsidiary of Otis Elevator Co.

Capacities range from 2,000 to 10,000 pounds (in increments of 1,000 pounds), and larger trucks up to 80,000 pounds are also available. 2. Electric, gas-electric, Diesel-electric or LP gas-electric power can be supplied. 3. Models include sit-down or stand-up, center or end control. 4. There is a wide range of lift heights for every operation - carrier loading or extra-high stacking, light or heavy-duty work. 5. ELPAR trucks can be specially adapted or equipped with any of a score of special attachments for out-of-the-ordinary jobs.

ELPAR electric trucks give fume-free, pennies-per-day operation with minimum maintenance. As a plus benefit, ELPAR field engineers assist your men in proper preventive maintenance. This free, personalized, service adds many years of truck life.

THIS SAFARI Go Power Truck With

Human carriers have small place in modern handling. Labor and time are too valuable. The efficient way to handle bag loads is to spot-glue them on Chestnut Poke-Pak—the ultimate in pallets. This rigid, light, tough fiberboard supports any weight your power truck can lift, carries as one unit to final destination. So inexpensive it's expendable. Better than wood pallets; eliminating credits, charge-backs, return freight, and torn bags. Omit floor lining, cover only car end walls. Store 60 to 70 Poke-Paks in space of one wood pallet. Economical, convenient for manufacturer, shipper, consignee, user!

FREE CONSULTANT SERVICE available from our nearest office; carloading diagrams, bag patterns, samples of Poke-Pak, made to fit any size bag unit, truck or car. Write for the complete story, including informative brochure.

Ground level car loading—at right angle

Ground level car loading-parallel

Ground level trailer loading

Solve your ground-level loading problems with Magcoa portable magnesium Yard Ramps

Solved: your ground-level loading problems—by a Magcon portable Yard Ramp. Loading operations jump into high speed with a Magcon magnesium Yard Ramp—a rugged, easy-to-move loading dock, where you want it, and when! One man moves it without the aid of powered equipment. A manually operated hydraulic lift positions it. You get fuller use of present facilities, lift trucks and operators—less idle time. You cut demurrage charges, and eliminate any need for additional dock facilities. Solved: your ground-level loading facilities Speed Plus Safety—As safe as it's fast—your Yard Ramp; designed and built for safety in moving and positioning. Locks securely in place. positioning. Locks securely in place. Long-wearing tread plate assures safe, positive traction. Quarter-round safety curbs—an exclusive Magcoa feature—prevent run-offs, safeguard workers, protect tires, trucks and loads. Special rounded castings at curb-ends give added protection on sharp turns. Rugged bridge-type underbracing is engineered for your load requirements—with a comfortable margin of safety. able margin of safety.

Car loading, right angle—For fast, straight-run loading, place the Yard Ramp right angle to the car. Safety hooks grab the sides of the car, hold the ramp securely.

Car loading, parallel—When track-side space is limited, Magcoa solves the problem by using a portable magnesium table, a Dockhoard and a Yard Ramp. Place the table at the car-door, and run the Yard Ramp up to it alongside the car. The Dock-board completes the set-up for fast, safe loading. The magnesium table features rugged bridge-type construc-tion, fork slots to facilitate movement by lift truck, safety tread deck and removable safety curbs which permit simultaneous loading from two or even three sides.

Trailer loading—Same easy, fast, safe operation, the same substantial cash benefits—in using the Yard Ramp to load trailers from the ground. The hydraulic lift raises the Yard Ramp into place; and a rugged chain-hitch holds it there. This versatile method unravels congestion on your stationary ramp, ends any need for additional facilities.

Wide range of sizes and capacities. Five etandard sizes of Yard Ramp: lengths to 36 feet; widths, 60 and 70 inches; weights, 1,150 to 1,950 lbs.; capacities to 16,000 lbs.; or a "spe-cial" if required.

What's your loading problem? Is lack of ramp facilities slowing your yard handling? Big demurrage bills? Idle lift trucks and operators? Or, is yours a dock problem? Low rail dock? Low truck dock? Narrow, congested dock? Spilling or damaging loads?

Planning the dock for a new plant or warehouse? Modernizing an old dock? Switching to higher-capacity lift trucks or pallet trucks? Whatever the loading problem, the odds are 1000 to 1 that your local Magcoa Representative has encoun-tered it before—and solved it.

tered it before-and solved it!

A Suggestion: Send for our free Yard Ramp bulletin and our new bulletin, "What to do about Difficult Docks." They are loaded with practical, help-

SWITCH TO MONARCH INDUSTRIAL SOLID TIRES

You can't assume all lift truck tires are equal in mileage and economy just because they look alike when new. They aren't.

The difference... important to every solid tire user... is "inside". It's the blending of top quality materials and special production techniques. Some tire compounds, like Monarch's new T-48C, have proven outstanding on all counts. Others... well, those are the tires you have to replace frequently. And that can be costly!

Solid tires are Monarch's specialty. That is why Monarch can give you premium quality tires... tires with superior resistance to cutting, chipping and splitting... at normal prices.

Try them. If economy is your goal . . . Monarch is your tire!

AFTER . . . there was no doubt! Only the Manu Cush ion still was usable.

Here's Mechanized Handling... WITH FLEXIBILITY!

A vast 4 acres under one roof is stamping ground for a fleet of LP Gas Clarkette® Towing Tractors which quickly weave in and out of huge stacks of merchandise with "trains" of foodstuffs. This giant 130,000 sq. ft. warehouse is the home of Ralphs Grocery Company, Los Angeles.

The operating supplement is a fleet of Clark fork trucks which are used to load the food "trains," unload them, drive directly into truck trailers for loading, and do the big job of stacking merchandise as high as 20 feet.

"It would be dissertous for our high-geored."

"It would be disastrous for our high-geared operation if, for any reason, we were no longer able to use our Clark fork lifts and Clark-ettes," states Oliver J. Argus, 31-year veteran Warehouse Manager.

That quote could be yours. Your local Clark dealer can show you why. And while you're talking to him, ask about Clark's efficient LP Gas System. U-L approved, low-cost and clean . . . a carburetion system designed for indoor warehouse work.

Clark LP Gas Fork Truck moves directly into trailer to deposit merchandise. The huge warehouse can accomodate 40 trucks and nine railroad cars being unloaded simultaneously.

FORK TRUCK - TRACKLESS TRAIN SYSTEM

In the MERCURY Fork Truck—Trackless Train System, trailers do the transporting job...tractors haul the train... fork trucks load the trailers and stack at destination. Where volume is large and distances are great, this system really slashes handling costs. Where distances are short, fork truck can be used to both haul the train and load trailers.

GAS AND ELECTRIC TRACTORS

Tractors include the "Tug" Electric Tractor and the "Banty" Gasoline Tractor... both available in various capacities, in either 3 or 4 wheel type, with cushion or pneumatic tires. For extra heavy duty the "Huskie" and "Super-Huskie" Gasoline Tractors offer the variation of the control of th Gasoline Tractors offer the user the most dependable and economical service. Gasoline models are also available with LP gas fuel systems.

MERCURY

THE MOST COMPLETE LINE OF INDUSTRIAL TRUCKS • TRACTORS • TRAILERS

Tonnage Travels for Less on the MERCURY "TRACKLESS TRAIN"

Save valuable man-hours with the low-cost tractor-trailer method. Free of any fixed path—the versatile MERCURY "TRACKLESS TRAIN" travels wherever material movement dictates...long hauls, short hauls or snaking through congested areas. Delivers more tonnage at lower cost because the "Trackless Train" keeps loads on wheels readily movable by hand for short distances. Moves more tonnage by merely adding more trailers...no increase in power units.

PLATFORM LIFT TRUCKS

Elevating platform trucks in capacities of 3,000 to 10,000 lbs., low, high and telescopic models. Load carrying vehicles in 4,000 and 6,000 lb. capacities. Platform trucks contain within themselves the means of picking-up, transporting and setting down loaded skids.

INDUSTRIAL TRAILERS

MERCURY trailers are designed to meet the requirements of the user. Models include castor steer, fifth-wheel steer and four-wheel steer trailers in capacities ranging from 2,000 to 60,000 lbs. Decks and bodies can be built to suit the commodity handled.

Mercury A-310 Castor Steer Trailer— For nearly a half century industry has accepted the A-310 Trailer as its standard because of its suitability for general all-purpose work and its ability to provide the lowest cost transportation per ton mile.

NEW LIGHTWEIGHT YALE HAND PALLET TRUCK

* Less operator effort

New Yale Model A Hydraulic Hand Lift Pallet Truck is lighter than any other hand truck with a capacity of 2000 lbs. Weighs only 200 lbs., resulting in less pulling effort by the operator—less operator fatigue.

* Smoother lifting and lowering

Operator can lift heavy loads 4 inches with 9 easy foot pedal strokes. Controlled lowering gives cushion action to protect fragile loads from handling shocks.

* Easier to maneuver when loaded

Lightweight construction of Yale's new Hand Pallet Truck makes maneuvering easier even when truck is fully loaded because there's less deadweight to pull or push. Dual articulated steering wheels provide ease of steering and maximum stability over rough surfaces.

* More grade clearance

Compression tubes, used for lifting, are mounted high in the forks and allow 50% more underclearance than other hand trucks.

SPECIFICATIONS:

- * Capacity: Hydraulic Lift up to
- " Weight with 48" forks: 200 lbs.
- Ground clearance: Lowered 1%"; Raised — 5%".
- * Handle: Balanced Spring Type.
- Fork Lengths: 30" to 72" in 6" increments.
- Bearings: Front wheels—Tapered Roller Bearings; Rear wheels—Ball Bearings

Gives you Maximum Floor Protection in Minimum (6') Aisles

Here's a narrow-aisle truck that does not straddle loads, consequently it can be equipped with large 10" diameter rubber-tired load wheels that are easy on your floors. To pick up a load, the operator simply positions the truck; extends the hydraulically-operated forks into the pallet; lifts; and retracts

WAREHOUSE DIRECTORY

It Looks Good . . . But What's Inside?

Judging a public warehouse by exterior appearances is just as risky as judging a book by its cover or a gift by its wrappings. It may not be what it seems

Selection of a warehouse must be just as businesslike as the selection of industrial sites, branch offices, and sales representatives —especially if it is to be a key distribution point.

Various factors influence choice; most are physical — such as transportation facilities, switching, sidings, dock areas, pool car service, handling equipment, temperature and humidity control, showrooms, local cartage, and so on. Some warehouses have many of these facilities, others may have all.

To aid readers with selection, DISTRIBU-TION AGE editors have attempted to provide, in the following pages, a list of the important specific services of the nation's public warehouses, and a few in Canada. Every listing has been checked and brought up to date as of press time.

Naturally, this compilation would be impossible without the cooperation of the ware-housemen. It would be encouraging and rewarding to them if, when writing, mention be made that their listings were seen in DISTRIBUTION AGE.

Space limitations have made it necessary to keep the data brief but, if further information is needed, many additional facts can be obtained quickly from editorial files. Just contact the Editor.

ABBREVIATIONS

Abbreviations listed on the two following pages are used in all sections of the Warehouse Directory. Most are in common use throughout the industry. Others will be easily recognizable as natural simplifications of names, terms, and titles familiar to warehousemen and warehouse users.

The star (*) is the only symbol used in the book. Used in warehouse listings, it denotes that information furnished by the warehouseman has been attested by a notary public.

Listings and advertisements of public merchandise warehouses begin on Page 124. For listings and advertisements of refrigerated warehouses, please turn to Page 467.

SMEDLEY CO. has become the synonym for "Streamlined Service." For the past 96 years we have based all our operations on the knowledge that our customers demand and expect their distribution and storage problems to be solved with economy, speed and security. This far-sighted operation has made The Smedley Company one of the East's outstanding merchandise storage and distribution organizations.

Modern streamlined building on one floor -with unlimited load capacity, permitting complete unit load handling for the storage of all types of products. It is served by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, and equipped with an ample truck dock and uncongested yard space for the time-saving despatch of highway vehicles.

PLUS . . . THE FIRST COMPLETE REMINGTON RAND
ELECTRONIC TABULATING AND INVENTORY CONTROL SYSTEM

We don't believe in traditional warehousing practice. We believe a warehouse should keep itself up to date with new and efficient business methods. Using modern communication systems, General operates 7 warehouses from a central control . . . our account executive system provides you with a person who is already familiar with your industry's needs and practices. The result . . . General's smooth efficient service gives you the same rigid control of storage and material handling you use in your own plant. Here's how the General system works. When your order is received it is checked and recorded by trained office personnel—our account executive arranges in advance for space and the facilities necessary to your particular kind of goods—the merchandise itself is received and stored by people skilled in handling freight. General's system makes a specialist out of every worker,

GENERAL WAREHOUSE

STRATEGICALLY LOCATED CHICAGO WAREHOUSES

ACCOUNT

Your account will be assigned to an executive familiar with your industry's warehousing needs. You always deal with a man who has authority and knowledge to adapt or devise special handling methods.

COMPLETE DAMAGE PROTECTION

All goods are inspected on arrival and damaged merchandise reported at once or repacked per your specifications. Quick action in such cases means that all your stock is in salable condition. Each warehouse has burglar alarm and sprinkler system.

CENTRAL

The central office does the recording, checking and billing for all warehouses. Our own teletype network maintains hourly contact with all buildings. This insures prompt response to your inquiries and inventory requests which are processed by the Remington Rand electronic tabulating system al General.

MODERN HANDLING

New equipment of the most modern type insures fast, safe handling of your material. General has 42 fork trucks of 2000 to 5000 pound lifting capacity. The most modern methods are employed; we use over 30,000 pallets.

SPECIALIZED PERSONNEL

Each warehouse has a manager who sees that material is handled in accord with central office orders. Under him is a superintendent who organizes receiving, storing and shipping. This results in faster, more efficient handling.

RAIL AND

Each General Warehouse building has rail sidings and both rail and truck docks. All docks have overhead weather protection and several are completely enclosed. With these complete facilities General handled over 10,000 carloads last year.

TRACING AND

Full knowledge of the exact location and quantity of goods in transit is vital to both warehouse and client. Here General's efficient communication system can be invaluable. Prompt accurate data on request or as regularly as you like.

COMPLETE DISTRIBUTION AND TRANSPORT SERVICE

We can pick up or deliver any size load within the Chicago switching district and commercial zone of Indiana. General owns over 50 pieces of trucking equipment. This extra service will greatly aid your Chicago distribution.

COMPACT

To press or pack closely. An agreement or covenant. The first describes our organization—closely knit. The second tells the story of our attitude toward clients. When you deal with us you have a covenant.

COMPLETE

Free from deficiency; entire; absolute; finished; to supply what is lacking. That's a complete definition of Long service. It covers every phase of modern warehousing and distribution as a matter of course.

COMPETENT

Fit; able; suitable; qualified; moderate. Fifty years of efficient, progressive organization makes this definition stick. It's exactly the basis of our theory of operation. We know that trained and experienced personnel round out an organization that can lay indisputable claim to the slogan—Compact, Complete, Competent.

In the very heart of DELAWARE VALLEY, U.S.A. at TRENTON

Industry is growing apace along the Delaware. Already the area ranks with the world's greatest industrial concentrations. Our location at the gateway to Delaware Valley is of the greatest strategic importance to operators in this rich beehive of productivity and trade. It is served by the main line of the Pennsylvania Rail-road between New York and Philadelphia; and by the express highways of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Our modern fireproof, single-story brick and concrete buildings have high ceilings and concrete floors . . .

some 213,000 sq. ft. of floor space with vast unobstructed areas ideally adapted for industrial storage. Insurance rates are low. There are tailgate loading platforms, with additional truck-loading facilities within the buildings. The steel-loading area has a 5-ton traveling crane. The four railroad sidings have 25-car placement.

Along with these unique physical facilities we offer you the unparalleled combination of services provided by all Tidewater Chain units. Contact W. B. Mckinney, Jr., Manager, today, outlining your needs.

DUNKIRK

NEW YORK

This strategically situated property—most recent addition to the Chain of Tidewater Terminals and Inland Warehouses—is on the New York Central's main line between Buffalo and Cleveland. It is a subsidiary of The Keystone Warehouse Company of Buffalo.

It offers storage-in-transit privileges on a large variety of commodities. Costly switching charges at destination points are eliminated. The modern, high ceilinged brick and steel structure is sprinklered. You get fast, expert handling of your products with mechanized equipment.

The property is served by a New York Central siding, under cover, with 20-car capacity. There is reciprocal switching with the Pennsylvania, Nickel Plate, and Eric Railroads. It may well be that we can serve your distributional needs at this intermediate point between East and West. Write or call us for complete information.

Saving Money for Storers in New York

Distribution and Warehousing New York State A.B.C. Board Warehouse Permit Lehigh Valley Railroad Siding

WAREHOUSE AND LOCATION

The Midtown Warehouse, Inc., is in the Starrett Lehigh Building. Considered the most modern industrial building in New York City.

Situated on the sixth and other floors. Capacity more than 250,000 square feet. 85,000 square feet U. S. Bonded Warehouse.

VENTILATING, HEATING, ETC.

Warehouse is light, airy and well ventilated. Heated in the winter by modern thermoleer units which are thermostatically controlled, allowing us to maintain any desired temperature with these instruments.

WAREHOUSE ACCESSIBLE

By freight or truck elevators. Elevator capacity more than 30,000 lbs. Merchandise can be loaded or unloaded on street platforms or in truck pits right outside of our warehouse doors inside the building. This eliminates the hazards of street loading.

LOW INSURANCE

Compare with others. We are absolutely fireproof.

RAILROAD SIDINGS

Building is known as less carload station on Lehigh Valley tracks. This permits us to handle either carload or less carload freight without cost to the storer.

CALL AND DELIVERY SERVICE

By all R. R., coastwise S. S. carloading Co.'s and long distance Truck Operators.

DEEP SEA AND COASTWISE PIERS

We believe we are ideally located for both. This should result in a low cost of cartage to or from this particular point.

INSPECTION INVITED

We respectfully invite you to inspect the premises at any time, at your convenience so that you may see for yourself the modern warehouse we are operating.

We call attention to our affiliate ultra-modern warehouse at 29-39 Pavonia Ave., Jersey City, N. J. Situated on the Erie R.R. and Hudson River. Send for further details of this warehouse—The Mid-Hudson.

Above is an actual photograph of four buildings owned outright by us—A long city block of valuable property constituting part of the financial responsibility behind this organization.

For more than a quarter of a century these buildings have been storehouses for merchandise produced in the United States and throughout other parts of the world.

Since its inception the National Warehouse Corporation has, through the years, continuously served its original patrons—a clear indication of good customer relations.

Materials Handling Equipment

By D. O. Haynes

This 560-page volume, authored by DA's materials handling consultant, is expected off press early this summer. Illustrated with more than 2,500 line drawings, the book depicts the mechanical principles underlying tools and machinery used in the science of materials handling.

Mr. Haynes has written a comprehensive essay covering equipment akin to all phases of materials handling. The book is divided, for easy reference, into seven principal sections:

1. Transporting

2. Elevating

3. Conveying

4. Transferring

5. Self-Loading

6. Bulk Handling

7. Accessories
